LEXINGTON HOME BRANDS CELEBRATES THE SPIRIT OF AUTHENTICITY WITH THE NEW CIMARRON COLLECTION

THOMASVILLE, NC – With an attitude born of the beauty and inspiration of the great outdoors, Lexington Home Brands introduces Cimarron, a fresh new collection celebrating the spirit of authentic craftsmanship and the natural character and beauty of alder solids and veneers. Cimarron makes its High Point Market debut April 25-30.

“There is an authentic spirit in the Cimarron collection,” says Phil Haney, president and CEO of Lexington Home Brands. “It has an understated classic appeal, with traditional English styling, hand-hewn surfaces, soft distressing, and a warm Chatham finish that is hand-rubbed and waxed. This group is crafted from alder, using age-old techniques that capture the enduring look of a timeless classic.”

Hand-hewn plank and pegged tops, exquisite turnings and hand-wrought metal are but a few of the bold design elements in the collection. The custom hardware is generous in weight and scale with a deep antique brass finish that offers an eye-catching contrast to the warm umber tones of the wood.

The sophisticated Chatham finish, with subtle distressing and rich burnishing, conveys the appearance of a gently-aged antique. Artisans hand-rub and wax every square inch to saturate the surface with warmth and character, resulting in a familiar hand that is silky to the touch, and soft in luster to the eye.

Adding to the traditional categories of bedroom, dining and living room, Cimarron features signature pieces with grand scaling for the executive home office, library and media rooms. Rounding out the lifestyle display are three dramatic groupings of upholstered seating.

Warm earth tones, the deep hues of the forest, and the dramatic colors of a mountain sunset are the inspiration for Cimarron’s rich textural fabrics – kilim looks are complemented by soft saddle leather, luxurious chenille and custom nailhead trim. Upholstery silhouettes feature distinctive carved wood frames with elegantly turned feet.

Celebrate beauty and inspiration as natural as a mountain vista with Cimarron – a fresh new interpretation of timeless design and authentic craftsmanship, featured in the Lexington Home Brands showroom, 1300 National Highway in Thomasville.
