LEXINGTON HOME BRANDS AND TRUMP HOME DEBUT
MAR-A-LAGO COLLECTION AT JULY LAS VEGAS MARKET

THOMASVILLE, N.C. – The grandeur and opulence of one of America's premier estates is captured in Mar-a-Lago, a new Trump Home collection from Lexington Home Brands that will make its debut during the summer Las Vegas Market, July 28-August 1.

The Mar-a-Lago collection takes its name and inspiration from the private landmark property in Palm Beach, Fla., owned by Donald Trump. The "Jewel of Palm Beach" is the last remaining Palm Beach property that still has buildings and land that are in almost identical form as when they were originally opened in 1927 as the estate of Marjorie Merriweather Post.

"Lexington's Mar-a-Lago collection finds its inspiration in the scale, opulence and beauty of the Mar-a-Lago estate, rather than showcasing an exact representation of the mansion or its furnishings," says Phil Haney, president and CEO of Lexington Home Brands. "This is an Old World collection that extends the Trump Home brand into a new style category. The Mar-a-Lago group is dramatically larger in scale with an elegant look. We will add to the excitement of this collection with an amazing debut party that will dazzle the Las Vegas marketgoers."

"The phenomenal success of the Central Park and Westchester collections from Trump Home proves that consumers have embraced the idea that quality product is attainable at an affordable price," says Cathy Hoffman Glosser, executive vice president of global licensing for The Trump Organization. "When the Mar-a-Lago collection debuts at the July Las Vegas Market, people will see the same standards of high quality and attention to detail, but on an even grander scale. This is a beautiful series of furniture that we know will be a tremendous success."

The Mar-a-Lago collection offers opulent designs in rich leather, dramatic finishes with gold tipping, antiqued mirror and dark marble, scrolled metal under glass and substantial elegant forms. "There are grandly scaled pieces, but the look isn't overly formal," Haney says. "This is a 'major living' collection that is distinctly aimed at entertaining and master-suite living. There are no small tables or writing desks in this group; instead, each item is designed to make a statement."

In keeping with the larger-than-life persona of its namesake, Donald Trump, the Trump Home collection will debut in the biggest building to open on the World Market Center campus—Building C—where Lexington Home Brands will occupy its new permanent showroom in C-1100.

"We are looking forward to cutting the ribbon on our fantastic new West Coast home in July with the launch of the Trump Home Mar-a-Lago collection," says Haney. "When Building C opens, Lexington Home Brands will take a stand in our permanent space as the key upper-end home furnishings company for the Las Vegas Market."

To celebrate the debut of Mar-a-Lago, Lexington Home Brands will host an invitation-only event during market, featuring Donald Trump as a special guest of the evening.
