BARCLAY BUTERA LAGUNA

“Laguna Beach holds a special meaning for me. As a young designer, my very first real estate purchase was a bungalow in Laguna once owned by Hollywood screen legend Bette Davis. Like many of the cottages that lined the coast years ago, it had a timeless traditional feel without the formal trappings. The renovation taught me that design and scale are not mutually exclusive. Cozy spaces exude an intimacy easily lost in the grand scaling of homes today. In developing Laguna, we were thoughtful about scale, materials, finish colors and textiles. Our goal was to achieve the same level of familiarity and authenticity that drew me so strongly to that seaside home. People often ask if I could own one home again, which would it be. Without hesitation, it would be that cozy little bungalow in Laguna Beach.”

BEDROOM

“To me, quintessential coastal style blends familiar design elements with natural materials like woven cane and the crisp look of a linen white finish.

I love the fresh look of this bedroom setting. The canopy frame, dentil molding, tapered legs, and pendent hardware ground the collection with classic forms, while woven cane panels in a natural finish steer it in a casual, comfortable direction. Elegant simplicity is my benchmark for a lifestyle of gracious seaside living.”

DINING ROOM

“I love putting a fresh twist on classic styling. A Traditional Home magazine editor once referred to it as ‘unbuttoned elegance’ which I thought was fitting.

In this room, notice how a striking contemporary fabric transforms the classic graceful curves and dressmaker skirt on the host chairs. Clean architectural lines and a light nutmeg finish on the table and chairs allow you the opportunity to pull color and texture into the room design.”

LIVING ROOM

“Nothing brings energy into a room more dramatically than a crisp white palette with rich accents of color. Today’s performance fabrics allow us permission to do exactly that. The body fabric on these flanking sofas is a great example, offering a remarkable hand with matching durability. I simply love the symmetry, layering, and freshness of this room.”
